

Elegance leather

Elegance is a full grain, uncoated pure aniline Scandinavian leather of the highest possible quality

Only the very finest hides are selected and are chrome tanned with a vegetable crust. No pigmentation or surface coating is applied. As a consequence variations within hides and between hides may occur.

Elegance has the most pleasant touch and high breathability. It also has a natural surface structure which is why scars or other marks are sometimes visible.

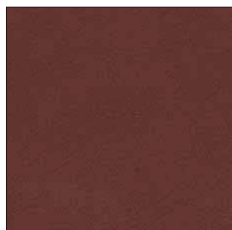

A feature of Elegance is that it will age, gaining a patina over time. Elegance is susceptible to surface staining and darker colours will fade if exposed to direct sunlight for long periods of time.

Elegance is recommended for those seeking the highest quality of comfort and who wish their furniture to have its own distinct character.

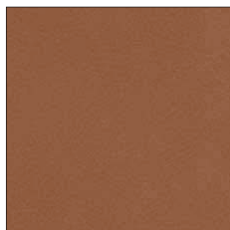

Elegance is available in 4 colourways and as an exclusive vegetable tanned natural leather.

Elegance is recommended for the furniture of the highest quality.
